

Jason Wilkins

Jason articulated with DBB in 2001 and joined the partnership in 2010. He became a managing partner in January 2014.

Jason practices in the area of family law, and is experienced in all facets of property disputes, spousal support, custody/access and child support. He has a particular interest in Hague Convention cases.

He also maintains a civil litigation practice including employment law, product liability cases, collections and a variety of other general litigation matters. Jason has experience in mediations, both judicial and private, and advocacy experience at all levels of Court in Alberta, including significant trial and appellate work and recently worked as Commission Counsel to the Alberta Health Services Preferential Access Inquiry.

Jason is a long-serving and dedicated volunteer with Calgary Legal Guidance, receiving the Allan D. Hunter Volunteer of the Year award in 2008. He has served on the Board of Cause Canada and helped with fundraising efforts for this charity, as well as a number of other community development causes.

He enjoys many sports and outdoor activities. Jason continues to help on the family farm near Peers, Alberta, when possible.
