

Madison Brush

Madison earned her law degree from the Schulich School of Law at Dalhousie University. During law school, Madison completed a clerkship at the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia (Family Division) and a semester at the Dalhousie Legal Aid Clinic where she focused primarily on family law and youth criminal law.

Madison is a member of the Admissions Committee at the Schulich School of Law. She was Co-Chair of the Schulich School of Law Social Committee and is a former member of Pro Bono Dalhousie.

Outside of the office Madison enjoys traveling, participating in fitness classes and trying new restaurants.
